Is Life Worth Living?

That depends upon the Liver. If the Liver is inactive the whole system is out of order—the breath is bad, digestion poor, head dull or aching, energy and hopefulness gone, the spirit is depressed, a heavy weight exists after eating, with general despondency and the blues. The Liver is the housekeeper of the health; and a harmless, simple remedy that acts like Nature, does not constipate afterwards or require constant taking, does not interfere with business or pleasure during its use, makes Simmons Liver Regulator a medical perfection.

I have tried it a dozen personally, and know that for Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Throbbing Headache, it is the best medicine the world ever saw. Have tried forty other remedies before Simmons Liver Regulator, and none of them gave more than temporary relief, but the Regulator not only relieved but cured.

THERMOMETERS ARE MANUFACTURED WITH GREAT CARE.

They Are Made Very Accurately, and, Though Quickly, Pass Through Nineteen Pairs of Hands—The Different Processes of the Instruments.

The making of a thermometer may be either a delicate scientific operation, or one of the simplest tasks of the skilled mechanic, according to the sort of thermometer made. With the extremely sensitive and minutely accurate instruments designed for scientific uses great care is taken, and they are kept in stock for months, sometimes for years, to be compared and recompared with instruments that are known to be trustworthy. But so much time cannot be spent over the comparatively cheap thermometers in common use, and these are made rapidly, though always carefully. The method of manufacture has been so systematized within a few years that the very cheapest thermometer should not vary more than a fraction of a degree from the correct point.

Whether the thermometer is to be charged with mercury or alcohol; whether it is to be mounted in a frame of wood, pressed tin or brass, the process is substantially the same. Mercury is generally used for scientific instruments, but most makers prefer alcohol, because it is cheaper. The alcohol is colored red with an aniline dye which does not fade.

The thermometer maker buys his glass tubes in long strips from the glass factories. The glassblower on the premises cuts these tubes to the proper lengths, and with his gas jet and blowpipe makes the bulb on the lower end. The bulbs are then filled with colored alcohol, and the tubes stand for twenty-four hours.

On the following day another workman holds each bulb in turn over a gas jet until the colored fluid, by its expansion, entirely fills the tube. It then goes back into the hands of the glassblower. He closes the upper end and turns the tip backward to make the little glass hook which will help keep the tube in place in the frame.

MARKING THE TUBES.

The tubes now rest until some hundreds of them, perhaps thousands, are ready. Then the process of gauging begins. There are no marks whatever on the tube, and the first guide mark to be made is the freezing point, 32 degs Fahrenheit. This is found by plunging the bulbs into melting snow. No other thermometer is needed for a guide, for melting snow gives invariably the exact freezing point. This is an unfailing test for any thermometer whose accuracy may be suspected. But melting snow is not always to be had, and a little machine resembling a sausage grinder is brought into use. This machine shaves a block of ice into particles, which answer the purpose as well as snow.

When the bulbs have been long enough in the melting snow a workman takes them one by one from their icy bath, seizing each so that his thumb nail marks the exact spot to which the fluid has fallen. Here he makes a scarcely perceptible mark upon the glass with a fine file, and goes on to the next.

The tubes, with the freezing point marked on each, now go into the hands of another workman, who plunges them bulb down, into a vessel filled with water kept constantly at 64 degs. A standard thermometer attached to the inside of this vessel shows that the temperature of the water is correct. Another tiny file scratch is put at 64.

Then a third workman plunges the bulbs into another vessel of water kept constantly at 96. This is marked like the others, and the tube is now supplied with these guide marks, each 32 degs. from the next. A small tab is then attached to each tube, on which its number is written—for, owing to unavoidable variations in the bore of the tube, each one varies slightly from the others.

MARKING THE CASES.

With its individuality thus established the tube goes into the hands of a marker, who fits its bulb and hook into the frame it is to occupy, and makes slight scratches on the frame corresponding to the 32, 64 and 96 degree marks on the tube. The frame has a number corresponding with the number of the tube, and the tube is laid away in a rack amid thousands.

The frame, whether it be wood, tin or brass, goes to the gauging room, where it is laid upon a steeply sloping table, exactly in the position marked for a thermometer of that size. The 32, 64 and 96 degree marks must correspond with the marks upon the table. If they do not, the error in marking is detected and the frame is sent back for correction.

A long, straight bar of wood or metal extends diagonally across the table from the lower right hand corner to the upper left hand corner. On the right this works upon a pivot and on the left it rests in a ratchet, which lets it ascend or descend only one notch at a time. That notch marks the exact distance of 2 degs. With the three scratches already made for a basis the marker could hardly make a mistake in the degrees if he tried.

The marks made upon the frame or case are all made by hand with a geometric pen and India ink if the frame is of wood, and with steel dies if it is of metal. The tube bearing the corresponding number is next attached to the frame, and the thermometer is ready for the market without further testing. Some makers use only two guide marks, but the best makers use three.

In the process of manufacture the ordinary thermometer goes through the hands of nineteen workmen, half of whom are often girls and women. Some of the larger concerns in and near New York produce several hundred thousand instruments annually, and on every one of them the purchaser may see, if he looks closely, the tiny file scratch on the glass at 32, 64 and 96 degree marks—or somewhere near them, as different makers use different points.—New York Sun.

Snow at New Orleans.

A fall of snow in New Orleans is an astonishing event. Men would scarcely be more excited if Clay statue were to evolve into the crater of an eruptive volcano. That snow is a most wonderful intoxicant cannot be a matter of doubt to any impartial or unprejudiced observer of the antics of Orleannians the other day. Foremost in the ranks of the snow drunk was the powerful small boy—the Bobby of the mansion, the Mickey of Bank alley. Bobby scraped from rose bush, lawn and doorstep sufficient snow to make his first snowball, and pelted therewith nurse, coachman and cook. Mickey scrambled with his ragged fellows for the meager fall of snow upon curbstone and pavement, and as he waited with red shining nose for the evening papers, he sent up many a merry shout and shied many a whizzing snowball.

As the fluffy shower began to freckle the gloomy atmosphere about noon pedestrians stopped in their mad rush along the thoroughfares to stand shivering beneath protecting sheds and gaze curiously at the snow as a thing rarely seen. Clerks and shopgirls thronged to windows and showcases and flattened their noses against the panes to see the flecks. Upon St. Charles avenue and Prytania street one might have thought from the number of ladies in shawls and ulsters upon galleries and at windows that some great procession was passing. There was quite as much enthusiasm, nervousness and color.

Not a few of the schools and academies gave their pupils a half holiday, with instructions to see the snow and take advantage of the opportunity to study the phenomena pertaining thereto.

There was not enough snow to cause any fun about the exchange. Eleven years ago, when the snow fell last, the Cotton exchange men were like so many schoolboys. They rubbed each other's faces with snow, they had snowball battles, and the stately and bewhiskered cotton king thought nothing of being shot through the ear with a globe of snowflakes.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A Long Sleep in Silesia.

A most peculiar case of prolonged sleep is at present occupying the attention of medical circles in Germany. A miner named Johann Latus is an inmate of the hospital at Myslowitz, in Silesia, where he was admitted four months and a half ago, and since then all efforts to wake him have been fruitless. Dr. Albers, the doctor attending him, is of the opinion that the apparent sleep is really a state of catalepsy, though medical science has on record no previous case of such a prolonged nature. He has arrived at this conclusion on account of all the limbs being absolutely rigid. The appearance of the man, however, betrays no signs of this. The body has quite still, the breathing is regular, and there is a healthy color in the cheeks. In the last few days the body has become much less rigid, and the patient has even made some slight movement, without, however, the eyes opening or the condition of apparent sleep being in any way disturbed. In the four months and a half that the sleep has lasted the hair has increased in length, but the beard has remained stationary. Nourishment to the extent of two or three liters of milk is administered daily by a tube inserted into the throat.—Vienna Letter.

A Monster Wheel.

The new 30-foot flywheel to replace the one which burst on the Amoskeag corporation at Manchester, N. H., last fall, has been completed and put in position for use as soon as the engine is in readiness. Twenty thousand feet of brown ash was used in the construction of the wheel, as well as 18,000⅜ by 3½-inch screws, a lot of iron rods, tons of iron and quarts of glue. The small wooden sections are fastened together by glue and the screws, and to strengthen the whole there are stout iron rods passing through the sections in addition to this. The screws are driven by steam power. To make the whole mass as compact as possible narrow openings were left between some of the sections, and into these were tightly driven well fitting wedges soaked in boiling hot glue.

The time of its test is being awaited with interest by the mill people. It has been necessary to keep a large gang of men at work upon the racks in the mill in order to prevent interference in the mills from ice.—Lowell Citizen.

Married with Her Arms All Dough.

A very romantic marriage has taken place in Montgomery county, N. C. A young man obtained the license, secured the preacher, took him immediately to the presence of his intended. He found her in the kitchen making up dough. The young fellow did not give her time to clean her hands and arms, but had the preacher to tie the knot at once. The preacher made quick work of it and sent them on their way rejoicing.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Came Near Being Buried Alive.

After a young woman in Morgan county, Ala., had been pronounced dead last week by four physicians, and was dressed in her burial garments, she suddenly, during the night before the funeral, opened her eyes and sat up in bed, to the intense fright of the watchers and the joy of her parents. A few hours later she got up and is now in her usual health.

To Explore the Amazon.

FARWELL ON HARRISON.

Some of Mr. Cleveland's admirers say ugly things about Senator Hill, but nothing that they have yet said compares with ex-Senator Farwell's opinion of President Harrison. Farwell is from Illinois, and his successor in the United States Senate is General Palmer. As a Republican he expresses the hope that the Democrats will make free coinage the issue, as he thinks that would be "doing the wrong thing at the right time." He does not hesitate to say, however, that in the event of his party doing the wrong thing at the right time, that is nominating Harrison at Minneapolis, the Democrats need not be particular as to who their candidate will be, as they could elect a broom against him. "So far," says Farwell, "as 'Little Benny' is concerned, his election is absolutely out of the question. Those who know him best like him least. He is a consummate egotist, who doesn't know how to treat people in a gentlemanly manner. Egotism is his inspiration and guide. He is a little man with a little mind. He works hard, his friends say, yes, he works hard looking after the affairs of his kitchen and arranging $800 appointments. I have known an instance where he drew a check for thirty-nine cents to pay for milk."

The President is a small man physically, but that is not his fault, and a small man mentally, but that is his misfortune, but he can scarcely be as small as ex-Senator Farwell pictures him. He favored the passage of the Force bill and every Republican in the House of Representatives voted for it, and were it not for Jones, Stewart, Teller and Wolcott, and a few other big-brained, liberal-minded Republicans, the country would be disgraced by the presence of troops at the polls in every precinct of a few hundred voters.

He opposes the remonetization of silver and though Republicans have repeatedly admitted that the demonetization of the metal was a mistake, the spoilsmen of his party follow him. He sent an ultimatum to the little Republic of Chili, which was distracted by civil war, and without giving it time to reply, sent a message to Congress, exalting himself, and his party, with of course, some exceptions, applauded his actions.

If he is a man of little mind, what is the mental calibre of the party that accepts him as a leader, and obeys his every behest? Harrison doubtless is an egotist, his actions show that, but some egotists have minds and he is one of that kind.

RELIEF FOR THE RUSSIANS.

Wednesday afternoon a vessel was sighted off the port of Libau, Russia, heading from the westward, and shortly afterwards the flag of the United States could be distinguished flying from the stern of the vessel. This proved to be a certainty that the vessel was the Indiana, which was to have sailed from Philadelphia, February 22d with a cargo of provisions for the famine sufferers in Russia. Immediately a Russian cruiser, having on board the American Consul and a number of distinguished Russians, proceeded out to welcome the Indiana, whose arrival was the signal for general rejoicing. Flags were displayed on all the vessels in the harbor, the wharves were crowded with enthusiastic people, the military band played the Star Spangled Banner, and a salute was fired from the forts.

How much more civilized and christian-like it is to have the vessels of nations blessed with plenty dispatched as was the Indiana, laden with food for the famishing in less-favored countries, than for display or hostile purposes, as is too often the case. Everybody who contributed to the cargo of the Indiana, and every officer and sailor on that vessel must, under such circumstances, feel more pride in their country and their vessel than if they had achieved a victory in a hard fought battle. Russia must ever feel grateful to the United States for the liberality of its people, and possibly the haughty Czar may think for a moment that his half-million soldiers might better be taught the art of agriculture than that of cutting throats.

OFFICIAL OUTRAGES

The New York Voice, a Prohibition paper, charges that Republican Postmasters in many of the Western States refuse to deliver the paper to persons to whom it is sent, and it sustains the charges by what appears to be positive proof. Hypocritic as the saintly Wanamaker is known to be, there is no evidence that he sanctions this outrage. The fault lies with individuals whose partisan zeal induces them to overstep the line of duty and deprive subscribers of the right to receive at the post-office any respectable newspaper that they order, or that may be sent them through the mails. The intolerant official who refuses to deliver mail matter because it expresses views and opinions on religious, political or social questions different from his, should upon conviction be deprived of his office and debarred from ever holding another.

It is but just to say that the postmasters accused by the Voice of the serious offense of refusing to deliver it, are generally in out-of-the-way places where the ignorant official thinks his first duty is to the party of which he happens to be a member.

The most reliable estimates of the population of Africa places it at 163,900,000, or fourteen persons to the square mile, while the population of North and South America is given at 121,713,000, or eight inhabitants to the square mile. There are large districts in Africa that are scantily peopled, and also vast regions densely populated, of which very little is known.

Cleveland Not a Candidate.

NEW YORK, March 17.—The Evening Telegram says that notwithstanding all that is said concerning the anxiety of Mr. Cleveland to be renominated for the Presidency, the Telegram is in a position to announce on unimpeachable authority that the ex-President recently wrote a letter declaring that he would not allow himself to be put in nomination. No one but Mrs. Cleveland knew of the letter. Cleveland intended to make the letter public by the Associated Press on the very day it was to be published. Mrs. Cleveland saved the situation by sending for one of her most trusted friends. To this gentleman Cleveland frankly confessed that he is sick of the littleness and dickerings and insults that are daily infringed upon his private life, and that he had made no effort to secure the nomination and that nothing would induce him to enter the race. Cleveland's friend induced him to promise that the letter would not be given to the Associated Press for twenty-four hours. A council was hurriedly held by the most faithful and level headed Cleveland men and at last Cleveland was persuaded to withdraw the letter.

A Domestic Receives a Fortune.

UKIAH, Cal., March 17.—It has just been developed that a domestic servant in Ukiah has fallen heir to half a million dollars. She was in the employ of M. Newfield, who secured her services through an employment office in San Francisco. She is Mrs. Duncan and was married in London where her husband died, leaving a large estate. It was involved in litigation, and the widow had despaired of getting anything. She had a friend in California and had come here, and, being destitute, engaged as a domestic. Her friends here interested themselves in her behalf, and employed a New York attorney to go to London, with the above result. She has now gone to make good her claim.

House Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The tariff debate in the House this afternoon threshed over the old straw and was on the whole, uninteresting. It is getting to be quite the thing to furnish illustrations, and Bowers of California excelled the other producers by bringing into the House a 50-pound block of tin made in California for the purpose, by ocular demonstration, of adding force to the statement of Representative Payne of New York that the United States would be able before long to supply the domestic demand for tin.

The debaters to-day were Payne, Raynor and Ellis. The dryness of the debate was varied by Bower's block of tin.

Adjourned.

Judicial Confirmations.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—After spending four hours and a half to-day in the consideration of judicial nominations, the Senate disposed of them by confirming them all. When the roll was finally called it appeared that Judge Woods, against whom an attack had been directed, had been confirmed by a bare majority, the vote standing 23 to 22. Subsequently one more vote was added to the affirmative list, making the vote 24 to 22. The vote was strictly according to party lines, excepting that Pfeffer voted with the Democrats against the confirmation. Stewart was not present.

Joint Debate on the Silver Question.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—A suggestion originally made as a joke, that Harter and Bland, the leaders of the two extremes on the silver question, should be brought together and allowed to discuss the matter to a finish, has taken practical form, the organizations in both Philadelphia and New York having proposed a joint debate between these gentlemen on the silver question. Bland's health being poor, he has asked to be personally excused, but it is likely that a joint debate will shortly be arranged.

Unloading the Wheat for the Russian Famine Sufferers.

LIBAU, March 17.—Unloading of the cargo brought by the steamship Indiania from Philadelphia for the relief of the Russian famine sufferers, was finished to-day. The first train load was dispatched to the distressed districts amid great ceremony of American and Russian officials, toasting the health of the Czar and President Harrison, and amid the playing of national airs of the two countries.

One Year for Libel.

ASTORIA, Or., March 17.—O. W. Dunbar, editor of Town Talk, a local newspaper, was to-day sentenced to one year in the county jail and all costs of trial, for publishing libelous articles concerning ex-Mayor Samuel Elmore.

A Woman and Baby's Narrow Escape.

MODESTO, Cal., March 17.—The house of Mrs. Lawrence, divorced wife of Jim Lawrence, was burned at midnight. The woman and her babe barely escaped alive. The woman says her divorced husband has several times lately advised her to insure the house, and that he wanted to stay all night last night, and when she refused him he struck at her with a spade. She believes somebody set fire to the house. The authorities are at work on the case to see if it was the intention to murder the woman and babe.

The Messiah Craze.

CHICAGO, March 17.—Information was received at General Miles' headquarters today that interest in the Messiah craze is being awakened among the Indians of the Northwest by the expected return of Short Bull and other Sioux chiefs who have been in Europe with the Wild West show. It is believed that Short Bull, who is reputed to be the prophet of the Messiah, if allowed to return to his people, will start the excitement anew. The chiefs are expected to arrive at Ft Sheridan on Saturday or Monday next.

Prohibitionists in Convention.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 17.—The Prohibition State Convention opened here this afternoon with 400 delegates in attendance. The scheme for a fusion with the People's party was defeated at the outset. The rest of the day was occupied by routine matter.

It is announced to-night that Cincinnati has been selected as the seat of the National Convention, to assemble June 29th and 30th.

Losses by Reciprocity.

LONDON, March 17.—In the Commons to-day the Parliamentary Secretary stated that the loss of revenue to the British colonies in the West Indies, under reciprocity treaties with the United States, was: Jamaica, $145,000; Leeward Islands, $50,000; Windward Islands, $20,000; Barbadoes, $60,000; Trinidad, $75,000; British Guiana, $145,000.

Snow at Memphis.

MEMPHIS, March 17.—Yesterday's storm did not terminate till this morning, leaving 18 inches of snow on a level. The interrupted street car traffic was resumed at noon. Business is much interrupted and all trains are late. The storm was general.

After the Clock Game.

CHICAGO, March 17.—The police this afternoon began a raid on the Bucket Shops room, which has been running in the vicinity of the City Hall, but for the past week being closed. It was fitted up with "clock quotation devices. All similar institutions in the city will be closed.

Fatal Affray.

ROSEBURY, Oregon, March 17.—A Hansbrough, a brother of Senator Hansbrough of North Dakota, was stabbed and killed during a saloon quarrel here to-day by Nicholas Jones. The latter gave himself up and is now in jail.

Still Storming.

The Marquis de Mores, who a few years ago cut a broad swath as a cattle raiser and vaquero in Wyoming and Montana, is now the idol of the Anarchists in France. He provoked M. Isaacs, who was prominent in the Fourmies affair, which resulted in the killing of several Socialists, to challenging him to fight a duel. He promptly accepted the challenge, chose swords for weapons, and stipulated that the duel should be fought to the death. The Marquis wounded M. Isaacs in the breast, but the latter persisted in fighting until the surgeons stopped him to staunch his wound, which they fear may prove fatal.

Bargains in GARDEN HOSE at Lange & Schmitt's.

Bishop Leonard returned from San Francisco yesterday.

Dr. Thoma reports L. B. Derby as being entirely out of danger.

Plumbing, tinning and pipe work done at the lowest possible prices by Lange & Schmitt.

Fruit trees are so far advanced that fears are expressed that late frosts will kill the blossoms.

There will be service this evening at 7 o'clock at Trinity Church. Bishop Leonard will officiate.

General C. C. Powning and wife arrived last night from the East. Mrs. Powning's health is greatly improved.

It is stated that $7,000,000 in gold has been brought to the United States from Australia in the last four months.

Archie Farrington, who has been in Esmeralda county on mining business for some time, has returned to Reno.

The water has been turned out of the Orr ditch and boys make good hauls of fish in the pools along the channel.

Mrs. Mary Emory, Principal of the University Normal School, took her pupils to Steamboat Springs yesterday for a day's recreation.

Wm. Armstrong and his best girl departed for Virginia City yesterday via the Geiger grade, to attend the ball given there last night.

Judge Boardman, who has been out in Humboldt county, says the agricultural and mining outlook is brighter there than for several years.

The Iowa Legislature, or rather one branch of it, has passed a joint resolution for submitting the prohibitory law to a vote of the people.

Grass Valley papers say there are counterfeit silver dollars, quarter dollars and ten cent pieces in circulation in that city and all are good imitations.

The party given last night by Fredrick's Orchestra was not very largely attended, owing to the theater, but those who attended had a most enjoyable time.

The ground is too dry to plow in some places. At Chism's ranch, just above town, they had to turn water on yesterday in an alfalfa field which he is plowing, to soften the ground.

A telegram was received Wednesday from Prof. McDowell of the State University, stating that he was blockaded in the blizzard in Nebraska and did not know when he would be able to get out.

A Jersey Colonial copper coin of 1787, ridiculing George Washington as the "New Caesar," has just been found by Hilliary E. Skeen, in the debris of the old Edelman store and mansion, Pottstown, Pa.

Brooks McClane came up from Wadsworth yesterday on the delayed passenger in response to a summons to appear as a juror in the case of the State vs. William Monroe, which is set for to-day at 10 o'clock.

Edwin McSorley, formerly of Eureka, in this State, dropped dead in the Wisconsin Hotel at Grass Valley, California, Wednesday night. He was a native of New York, 52 years of age, and had been on this coast since 1862.

Joseph Frey shipped yesterday to San Francisco four hundred boxes of choice apples produced in his orchard a mile and a half southwest of town. The apples bring $1 50 per box at wholesale in San Francisco. Last Fall apples were a drug in the market at 75 cents per box.

A party of young folks consisting of Nelse Coffin, Bob Williams, Miss Myrtle Sabin, Miss Jennie McKernan and Miss Maggie Magill left yesterday morning for Virginia City by private conveyance and returned last evening. They went down in the mines, and took in all the sights possible considering their short stay, and spent a most enjoyable day.

Senator Teller of Colorado is severing his relations with the Republican party. He could not stand Harrison and his anti-silver views. The Senator, who is now at Hot Springs, Arkansas, says the House and Senate will pass a free coinage bill and Harrison will veto it. He is for some silver man for President, and does not seem to care much who the man is.

The Truckee Republican says: "Six tramps broke into the station car of the Southern Pacific Sunday night, kindled a fire and proceeded to enjoy themselves. They were arrested Monday, pleaded guilty, and each was sentenced by Justice Liggett to thirty days in the county jail. After sentence was passed, one of them coolly walked up to the Judge and asked if he couldn't give him a pair of old shoes, as his toes were out."

The advantages of advertising in the JOURNAL are being practically demonstrated here daily. Monday G. B. Questa advertised for a lost cow and the next day the animal was driven to his place. Yesterday morning J. E. Humphrey advertised for a lost pocket book and before noon it was brought to this office. If you want to sell anything, buy anything or find anything, advertise in the JOURNAL. Nearly everybody takes it and those who do not borrow it and read it.

EQUINE STUDIES.

Nevada Breeding Race Horses—Winters' Colts at the Fair Grounds.

J. C. Simpson in Breeder and Sportsman.

Climatic conditions have always been recognized as of vital importance in breeding racehorses and fast trotters, and for that matter horses for any and all purposes. Ever since attention has been given to rearing horses, centuries in the past, it was noted that some districts are vastly superior for equine physical development, and that though there were only slight differences apparent, it could not be denied that animals bred and reared a few miles apart had pronounced variations. Climate, soil, herbage, water, topography, atmosphere are acknowledged to influence the progeny.

In comparing California and Nevada, or rather the valleys and foothills of California with the valleys and mountain sides of Nevada, the most striking differences are elevation and pasturage, the higher altitude, of course, affecting a change of temperature, and also the density of the atmosphere.

Theories are easily constructed, and speculations as to what effect heat, cold, lighter or heavier air will have in the rearing of race-horses are not difficult to advance, but theories and speculative imaginings are frequently far from the results which follow practical tests.

In order to obtain information in regard to Nevada as a race-horse-region and to visit Mr. Winters' breeding farm in Washoe Valley, and furthermore have a look at the horses in training, the broodmares and colts, I made the trip when the season, in all probability, would be as unfavorable as at any period of the year.

The middle of January, as it was early in the morning of the 14th, when breakfast was eaten on the attached dining car and the train was slipping easily down the grade on the banks of the Truckee. There was plenty of snow on the hills and fringes of ice along the shores of the stream. Brightly shone the sun and when Reno was reached it had gained an altitude that sent the rays warm and inspiring through the clear atmosphere.

The first night on a sleeping-car is not, as a rule, a restful one with me, but the pure air, better than half a dozen cocktails to get up an appetite, and the breakfast was a hearty one, and under the benign influence of old Sol the walk to the track in company with Mr. Winters was as pleasant as could be desired.

AT THE FAIR GROUNDS.

A short walk, or rather a saunter, on that bright midwinter morning, as there were frequent stoppages to admire the views and the temperature so bland that sauntering was more pleasant than brisker progression when encumbered with an overcoat. Thus much had quickly been learned that Nevada Winter-weather, at least such a sample of it as that before us, must be the right sort for racehorses, and judging by the old axiom that "what is good for man is good for horse," and if my feelings were a criterion the colts should be in high spirits. This was proven. The first division were taking their preliminary walk when we got to the stable and it was evident that "work" would be play for them on that morning. Every indication of which robust health, even with their Winter coats, their hair was glossy, just in the right flesh, and the best guarantee of all, eyes which, while they might snap with mischief, were beaming with spirit and resolution. There were eleven in the string, all good lookers, with, of course, some which either overtopped the others, and a number so nearly on a par that as they circumvallated the walking-ring it was difficult to award a decided preference and even the subsequent gallops failed to give definite points to warrant a choice.

THE YOUNG FLYER.

Chan Haskell, by Norfolk, is the only one in the string which is over three years old, and very like his sire he is, not only in appearance, as his action brought vividly to mind a May day in St. Louis, nearly twenty-eight years ago, when I saw his sire gallop away from strong fields so easily that it scarcely seemed possible that noted colts were in the rear. Pyramid, by Joe Hooker, from Addie O'Neal, by Leinster, a powerful fellow of that rich shade of chestnut which harmonizes so well with the bright colors of the turf, almost as glossy as the "silks and satins," and when relieved by white markings, is particularly taking, especially when leading under the wire, and I shall certainly be disappointed if the three crosses of Lexington, and the Australian, and the triple work of Glencoe, with the high form exhibited, do not entitle Pyramid to his share of brackets before the season of 1892 is brought to a close. G. & C. (Gould & Curry) is also a chestnut, and an own brother to that good race horse Benanza, a finely-bred fellow, and of good form, hardly as "lengthy" as I would like, but there have been many high-class racehorses which did not fill the measure in that respect, and as G. & C. gallops like one of that class, "action speaks louder than words," and that he will prove a "useful horse" I have not the least doubt. Tahoe is a brother to Pyramid, a year younger, and much as I was impressed with the older, must give a slight preference to the junior. He is also a chestnut with white markings, and goes along like a sure-enough racehorse. Which do you like best? This is a question which has puzzled me so many times that I must acknowledge that it does not have a tranquillizing influence when it comes, after looking over a lot of colts.

I cannot quite say that Bueno was absolutely entitled to the first place, and yet could not select one which I thought the superior of this bay son of Joe Hooker. If anything, he has more of the action of Norfolk than Chan Haskell, and those who can recall the style of that premier son of Lexington will admit that it was of a kind seldom seen. Never apparently tired, he ran with his head up and a clean stroke, never clambering or faltering, going at his ease when others were straining every muscle and nerve. Bueno is a good deal after the pattern of his grandsire, though with Hooker characteristics, and should he combine their good qualities in a greater degree than any of his stable mates, he will win many bright decorations in the coming campaign.

Rose Hickman, two years, by Joe Hooker, her dam Countess Zeika, by Norfolk, has the racing shape, and if there is any truth in heredity, she is well entitled to the form of a race horse, and, which is of more consequence, the ability to show that form in the greatest perfection, victories gained over the flyers of the turf. Her dam is from Ballerina, by imp. Balrownie, a half-brother to Bonnie Scotland, and Ballerina's dam, Hennie Farrow. Rose, therefore, has a double strain of the dam of Mollie McCarthy, Ralston, Flood and others, and likewise a double cross of Lexington. She is of rather slighter form than a majority of the Hookers, but her machinery is so justly poised that immense muscular power is not necessary, though when she brushed past me there was a vim, an energy displayed, which gave evidence of plenty of power to propel the nicely adjusted mechanism. I was struck with the appearance of the Jumbos, and still more favorably impressed with their handy way of galloping, a three-year-old filly by Jumbo from Ogxille, by Norfolk, her dam May B, by Shannon, and her third dam Jessie R, by Woodburn, should race and race fast, if form and action can be depended on for a line. Another Jumbo filly gives promise of speed, and as she traces twice to Big Gun, that there will be foot enough to go in the fastest company, is as nearly an assured fact as anything in the future can be assured. The mixing of Joe Hooker and Oregon blood has resulted in some of the wonderfully speedy class, and, as the sire of Jumbo, California was a full brother to Hooker, it is safe to predict that good will result from the union. Jim Renwick, Oregon Eclipse, Hercules and others, have so firmly established the conjunction, that it may be termed settled. Some of these colts were bred and reared in Nevada and were little, if any, behind their California relations in beauty and development. And now for the course on this mid-winter morning of 1892.

There had been a fall of snow, some of which still hung in the lee of buildings and fences, and there was a slight seepage from the remainder. The track, however, was so nearly dry that the harrow worked finely, and even in the morning it was quite fair for galloping. The colts were only in the first stage of preparation as the intention was not to start them on their Eastern journey until March was well under way, and the "brushes" I witnessed were about the first that had been given. The action of some of them has already been commented upon, but I must say that there was hardly one that could be rated as inferior or that had not a fair show to make a race horse. Some of them fast enough to warrant the prophecy that they will play a prominent part in any company.

A BEAUTIFUL LOCATION—CLIMATIC CONDITIONS.

Beautiful is the location of the Reno Fair Grounds. The plain is wide but so encircled with mountains that it cannot be subject to high winds. If it be true that the "Washoe Zephrys" come with the force which is said to be common when atmospheric disturbances prevail, it seems to me that it must be due to compression between ranges of mountains which are only divided by narrow valleys, and when the valley is as wide as that of Reno the force must be weakened just as a raging torrent comes to quietude in a sheet of water, and though there may be a good, stiff breeze after the expansion, it must be a great deal worse than that which at times is somewhat uncomfortable on the Bay District.

But I shall give more attention to the climatic conditions of Nevada for horse breeding when describing Mr. Winters' rancho, and as that will require an article by itself, and more than one newspaper article will be necessary to do it full justice, and therefore will close this with a few cogitations on the effect of training race horses with the intention of preparing them for an Eastern campaign at an elevation of five thousand feet above the ocean level. It is the unanimous opinion of those who have "carried" horses from here to run or trot at Reno, Carson and the courses in Montana that they labor under a great disadvantage, the rarified atmosphere increasing the labor of the lungs. If this be true, then the reverse should be beneficial, and horses brought from a high elevation to one not far above the sea level will have "better wind" than those which are kept on the lower altitude. Outside of the mountain States all of the prominent race courses in this country are located at comparatively low altitudes. Without going into a close investigation, I am of the opinion that the race course at Saratoga has the highest elevation of any of them east of the Rocky Mountains, and this may be one of the characteristics which gives it such wide celebrity as a horse sanitarium. That the atmosphere and the water are the main factors in establishing health must be admitted, as all other conditions are analagous to those existing in other places. Food and attention are the same, though it may be that as many horses which have become stale are taken there to recuperate, the slackening of work may have a potent influence in inducing recovery. At all events it can be taken as proven, that benefits do follow the transfer to Saratoga, and that when returned to other places there is manifest improvement. I do not suppose that Mr. Winters' colts will be "keyed up" before starting on the Eastern journey, if that be commenced as soon as was intended when I was there, and therefore the comparison will not be as complete as it would be if the work had been carried to a point which would disclose their full capacity. But should the journey be accomplished without showing any ill effects, such, as in a majority of cases, are likely to prevail, it can be claimed that the passage from a high altitude to one still higher, and from that to a low level does not entail the drawbacks that a transfer from low to high and then to low again, and that there are fewer risks. Then again should the colts which I saw gallop at Reno show less distress in breathing, and the tiring is more through loss of muscular power than owing to lung failure, it can surely be assumed that their lungs are in a better shape than they would have been if trained in the "lower country."

That in the human family mountaineers are hardier, can endure fatigue with less suffering, especially fatigue which comes from rapid movements, than people who have been reared on lower ground is universally admitted, and though it does not appear to be within range of probability that greater race horses than El Rio Rey, Emperor of Norfolk, Racine and many other of our California celebrities can be reared in Nevada, arguing from the human standpoint it may happen.

There will be a good test on Mr. Winters' Nevada farm. Marion was taken there before Yo El Rey was weaned, her last colt was foaled there, Countess Zeika, Lou Spencer and several other dams of winners are in the same situation, and as I shall show in the next article, they will have the best opportunities which can be afforded in Nevada. A few years will go far to decide the question.

THE RENO LYCEUM.

A Splendid Programme for Friday Evening, March 25th.

Attention is called to the ad of the Reno Lyceum in this issue. A splendid programme has been prepared, with some new and entertaining features, which will well be worth the small amount of admission charged.

The lecture, "American Characteristics," will be by Mr. Fulton, and promises to be a treat. Mr. Fulton is well acquainted with his subject, is a fluent speaker, and will handle his subject in a way that will interest his hearers.

The Glee Club, which made such a favorable impression at the last Lyceum, will again sing. The afterpiece, "A German Evening With Goethe," will be something new and entertaining, and should draw a crowded house.

The Theater Last Night.

There was a good audience to greet the Grismer-Davies combination last night, Jos. Grismer was not with the company, he being sick in Sacramento. The character of the burglar, which is represented by Mr. Grismer, was last night well sustained by Edgar Wier, but it was not Grismer. The audience had gone there expecting to hear Jos. Grismer, and were disappointed when it was ascertained that he would not appear. Phoebe Davies, as she always is, was good, but she, as well as the rest of the troupe, lacked the vim and life that is noticeable when Grismer is on the stage. The play was cut in order to catch the 10 o'clock train, on which the company departed for the West.

The World Enriched.

The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system gently in the Spring time or, in fact, at any time and the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

Pat Flannigan has twenty-seven men engaged shearing sheep at Amedee. Mr. Flannigan heretofore has had his shearing done on the range but finds it much cheaper and expedient to bring his flocks to the terminus of the railroad, as it saves much expense and time in hauling the wool by team to a shipping point. He will shear between 10,000 and 15,000 sheep this Spring. George Winters intends shearing about 12,000 sheep at the same place as soon as Mr. Flannigan is through with his sheep.

Is Life Worth Living

Depends on the liver. If suffering with Indigestion, or troubled with malaria, that tired, worn-out feeling, you will consider life worth very little. But when relieved of these by taking Simmons Liver Regulator you will count life a blessing and keep the Regulator on hand for any sudden attack of Biliousness and Sick Headache. An active liver makes life a delight. Don't forget the Regulator with the red Z.

Democratic Committee Meeting.

A meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee will be held at Reno, Saturday, April 23, at 12 M. for the purpose of designating a time and place for holding a State Convention, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

"August Flower"

For two years I suffered terribly with stomach trouble, and was for all that time under treatment by a physician. He finally, after trying everything, said stomach was about worn out, and that I would have to cease eating solid food for a time at least. I was so weak that I could not work. Finally on the recommendation of a friend who had used your preparations with beneficial results, I procured a bottle of August Flower, and commenced using it. It seemed to do me good at once. I gained in strength and flesh rapidly; my appetite became good, and I suffered no bad effects from what I ate. I feel now like a new man, and consider that August Flower has entirely cured me of Dyspepsia in its worst form. JAMES E. DEDERICK, Saugerties, New York.

DISTRICT COURT SUMMONS.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE STATE of Nevada, in and for Washoe County. The State of Nevada sends to M. P. Murry greeting:

You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you as defendant by Mary P. Murry as plaintiff in the District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the County of Washoe, and answer the complaint therein within ten days after the service on you of this summons, exclusive of day of service, if served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county, but within said district, and in all other cases forty days, or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The action is brought to recover a decree of this Court dissolving the bonds of matrimony now existing between you, M. P. Murry, defendant, and Mary P. Murry, plaintiff, and for a decree awarding the care, custody and control of Edith Murry, the issue of said marriage, to plaintiff upon the grounds:

First—That you on or about the — day of April, A. D. 1890, wilfully and without cause, deserted and abandoned plaintiff, and ever since said time have lived separate and apart from her without any cause or reason, and against her consent, and Second—That for more than one year immediately prior to the commencement of this action you have failed, refused and neglected to provide for plaintiff the common necessaries of life, and which said neglect, failure and refusal was not occasioned by ill health, poverty or misfortune which you could not avoid by ordinary industry, you having the ability to furnish said common necessaries of life for plaintiff.

All of which will more fully appear from the complaint which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court at Reno, in said County, and to which you are especially referred. And you are further notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said Court at Reno, this 22d day of January, A. D. 1892. O. H. PERRY.

IN THE ARMS OF A CORPSE.

Horrible Tale of Shipwreck and Suffering in the China Sea.

George J. Merchant, mate and the only survivor of the crew of six on the ill fated schooner Pearl, which was run down and sunk in the China sea by an ocean steamer, was interviewed by a reporter at his uncle's home, on Pelham street.

"The Pearl," he said, "was a small trading schooner of 140 tons, and usually touched ports among the Philippine islands, but on his last voyage we were chartered at Pamay for Hong-Kong with a general cargo.

"Nothing of any account happened until the night of the disaster, when we were within eight miles of our destination.

"At 8 o'clock that evening the barometer went down rapidly and we made ready by reducing sail to meet the tornado.

"Myself and a man named Mayo were on watch at 11 o'clock, and at that time we were hove to under a two reefed foresail, the wind having increased to a gale.

"Suddenly we saw two side lights a half mile away, and fearing a collision I told Mayo to get the 'flam' lighted, while I would arouse the crew.

"Before the 'flam' could be lighted the steamer was upon us, striking the Pearl on the port side and cutting her almost in two.

"We began to sink. I cut the lashings of the boat, turned her over, but we could not launch her, as Mayo's arm had been broken by flying timber.

"We got into the boat and she floated off. I saw the steamer back astern then proceed on her course, notwithstanding that I yelled myself hoarse for aid.

"In a few minutes the schooner sank head foremost, and we came very near being drawn down.

"We were alone on the ocean, as not one of our shipmates could be seen clinging to the wreckage of our vessel. But, worst of all, we had neither oars, water nor provisions.

"The heavy sea that was running at the time broke over the boat, and I tore up the bottom boards, fastened them to the rope at the bow and threw them overboard. These answered as a drag and kept her head up to the sea.

"All that night we huddled together to keep warm, expecting each moment would be our last.

"Morning dawned, but it was a sad dawning, as Mayo, overcome by the pain of his broken arm, lay stretched out in the bottom of the boat gasping for the want of a drink of water.

"Throughout that day many an anxious glance I cast over the waters. There was no sail in sight, and the delirious cries of Mayo was something awful. Then the storm abated. Next morning I found myself clasped in the arms of the corpse of Mayo.

"This was terrible, yet he must be buried. So I raised the body as gently as possible and launched it into the sea.

"I watched the body sink, but what was my horror when it rose face upward. Having nothing for a sinker I took one of the boards and paddled away from the terrible sight.

"I think it must have been about noon that day when I became delirious, for I remember quite plainly of yelling to a fleet of imaginary ships as they passed, but after that all was a blank.

"How or when I was rescued I do not know, but when I came to my senses I was on board a large Chinese junk, and seated beside me was a good natured coolie with a fan, who motioned me to keep quiet."—Boston Globe.

Women Teachers.

Of the teaching body in the United States at the last census 65 per cent. were women. The total number is 238,333. Women are sometimes employed as teachers exclusively for boys, but more frequently for boys and girls together. In Chicago there are no separate schools for boys—the sexes are taught together. Women in Boston teach all the branches in all the public school course to children of all ages and all classes in life. In reply to the comparative success of male and female teachers the commissioner of education reports: "Women, I think, as a rule succeed better than men in getting work out of pupils of all kinds. The intellectual training which they give is therefore better up to a certain point than that given by men. They also maintain better discipline than men and with less corporal punishment."—Exchange.

Chips for the Churchgoer.

There are many people who think they ought to help the Lord to keep the preacher humble.

It is easier to run an engine without fire than it is to keep up a church without a prayer meeting.

The pastor who tries to carry his church to heaven on his shoulders will be sure to drop the most of it.

Men who stamp around among the stars in the pulpit are not much account in helping people toward heaven.

Closing the heart against the cry of the needy is only another way of shutting the door of heaven against yourself.

The protracted meeting in which the members of the pastor's family take no interest is not apt to develop into much of a revival.—Ram's Horn.

Sad Looking Author of a Merry Book.

One who once set type in a great English establishment remembers the time when that most fascinating of nonsense books, "Alice in Wonderland," was put into metal from young Dodgeson's manuscript. "As you saw the writer, a grave almost sad looking young man, going in and out of Worcester college, or at the office about the proofs, you scarcely think such melancholy looking authorship could produce so merry a book."—Writer.

The Invention of Spectacles.

Spectacles were first used in the latter part of the Thirteenth century. There is no certainty as to who was the inventor of them, but the distinction is generally claimed for Alessandro di Spina, who is said to have made some about 1285.—Notes and Queries.

THERE ARE MORE THAN THREE HUNDRED people living on this coast who have publicly proclaimed that they owe their lives to modern medical and surgical skill. Their experience should be a guide to others.

Death is not a pleasant visitor, and his coming can in many instances be deferred by the exercise of a little ordinary judgment. Write to this man for his experience.

RED BLUFF, Sept. 25, 1891.

METROPOLITAN Dispensary—Gentlemen: Six weeks ago, when I first wrote you, I did not think it possible that such a wonderful change could be wrought in such a case as mine. I was a victim of Nervous Debility and Insomnia, caused by my own indiscretion. I was unable to sleep sometimes for three and four days on a stretch, and then only for an hour or so. I had been doctoring for months, and the best physicians on the coast pronounced my case hopeless. I was dying, dying slowly but surely, yet able to be up and around. Your first treatment was a revelation, to me, and in a short time was fast asleep, and after 24 hours I felt certain that you would cure me. I have gained more than 20 lbs. in six weeks. I can only say "God bless you."

W. W. WILSON

DEAR SIRS:—Enclosed please find P. O. order for the balance due you. It is unnecessary to send another treatment, as I am entirely cured.

MISS NELLIE WILSON.

Mother says that I'm well, and I quite agree with her. My hearing is completely restored, the roaring noises in my right ear are also gone.

I have gained 15 pounds of weight in the two months of your treatment. My sense of smell has also returned, although it was about gone, as you will remember.

MISS NELLIE WILSON.

Such evidence as this, coming from responsible parties, cannot be ignored by the afflicted. We would be glad to have you write to these parties and see for yourselves. We have thousands of similar testimonials on file in our office.

The Metropolitan Dispensary

Collecting Back Dues.

The charming blond who presides at the registered letter window of the post office threw up her dainty hands with surprise a few days ago when a gentleman walked up to the window, and upturning a big grip dumped its contents before her. There were 470 letters to be registered. Such a task had never before fallen to her lot. Her appeal for help brought the chief of the division, who provided help in the shape of three assistants for her, and the pile was soon disposed of. The man stood by until the receipts were given him.

"The fact is," he explained, "I am secretary of a fashionable club, and it's the most difficult matter in the world to make them pay up. I send hundreds of bills, and when I speak to members about it it's always the same story: 'I never got the bill, old fel; certainly I'll pay up. Just send me a bill and I'll see that you get it.' There are 470 delinquents in the club and I'll be sure they all get their bills this quarter."

The responses have already begun to come in in a way that foretells the entire success of the scheme.—Philadelphia Record.

A Custom Eight Hundred Years Old.

Tuesday evening the bells of all the parish churches of Brussels rang merry peals to celebrate the anniversary of the return home from the Holy Land of the survivors of the Brusselers who took part in the first crusade. They had left in 1095 with Godfrey, of Bouillon, whom they left there, and for six years no news had been received of them. They were given up for lost, and more than one of the forsaken wives was thinking of giving a successor to the absent one, when on Jan. 19, 1101, at dusk, the arrival was announced of a troop of men-of-arms at the Treurenberg gate. Great was the joy in many houses, and the long waited for husbands were welcomed with the best of suppers, to which they did such ample honor that when bed time came they were unable to move from their chairs, and their valiant wives had to carry them to bed. Until 1781 the council of Brabant held no meeting on that day.—Belgian News.

She Will Be Rich Some Day.

A good story is told of a certain man in Franklin county. He one day told his wife that he would give her all the silver pieces she found in his wallet which were coined the year she was born.

As a result, the lady in due course of time had quite an amount of silver money on hand—so much, in fact, that she went to the bank and deposited it in her name.

Then speaking to the cashier, the lady said: "My husband tells me you are going to pay him some money today. Won't you please pay him in this silver I have just deposited? I will be so much obliged to you if you would."

Of course the cashier, being noted for his courtesy to the ladies, quickly replied that he would be happy to please her.

As a result, the lady has still more birthday money.—Bangor (Me.) Commercial

FORCE THEM OUT.

SWIFT'S SPECIFIC is a remedy which is far in advance of medical science, as it has been expelling Microbi from the blood, and curing the worst diseases for 50 years, and it is only recently that the medical world have concluded that

AN EDITOR

MR. W. C. CURTIS, Editor of the Mecklenburg News, at Boydton, Va., says that he has been entirely relieved from an abscess which formed in his throat, and caused intense pain, almost choking him. He could not swallow solid food, and was in a most painful condition. He says that he took only three bottles, and that it effected a complete cure.

Treatise on Blood and Skin Diseases mailed free.
